WHAT WE VALUE

INDIVIDUALIZED "LEARNING-CENTERED" SUPPORT

We are committed to providing opportunities for students to be active participants in their own learning. We are also committed to methods that respond to the individual learning processes and needs of learners in all their diversity. The enormous advantage of working one-on-one with students is that tutors can focus exclusively on addressing the dynamic and highly individual process of learning for each particular student. Tutoring complements what happens in the classroom because a tutor can adapt practices to support each individual writer.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF LASTING SKILLS

While students' individual goals are often practical and immediate—getting the best grade on their papers—tutors assist students in looking beyond the individual assignment and toward the acquisition of lasting skills. These skills frequently include other practices critical to student success, such as time management, self-reliance, and self-awareness as learners. Tutoring helps students acquire the skills they need to find their own voices, recognize their own areas for improvement, and participate in a process that will both improve the assignment at hand and develop enduring skills and habits.

WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM (WAC)

Writing tutors assist students in meeting the demands of classes across the disciplines. We encourage instructors to invite students to work with Writing Center tutors on any type of writing. As we often say, we support students in any writing assignment & in any class.

FACULTY RESOURCES

- ◆ Our data shows that students' success in their courses jumps 15% with just one visit the Writing Center.
- ◆ Required and extra-credit visits lead to students returning on their own, and multiple visits correlate with increased academic success.
